The Washington Herald will be pleased to publish items of personal and social interest, if written on one side of the paper only and signed by the writer's name and address. Items intended for the Sunday edition of The Washington Herald must reach this office not later than noon on Saturday.

ALTHOUGH the official entertainment of the past week was more limited in the number and interest of events than during any corresponding period of the season, there was enough social incidents to keep every body pleasantly occupied and to give the most strenuous seekers after pleasure a chance to take a much-needed rest after the activities of the three previous weeks.

The dinner in honor of Supreme Court Justices by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Thursday, was the one particular event of the White House calendar, and brought to a close the state dinners for the present season. Two more receptions will be given, one next Thursday, in compliance to the members of both Houses of Congress, and one on Thursday, February 4, in honor of the officers of the army and navy, the latter being, in brilliancy and interest, second only to the Diplomatic reception, which opens the season. Mrs. Roosevelt will also entertain at a musical on Friday afternoon from 4 to 6, for which cards are already out.

Mrs. Fairbanks' departure for Atlantic City, where she is rapidly recovering from the bad effects of her long and tedious illness, and the absence of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Root in Canada, have still further reduced the ranks of official hostesses, and almost eliminated Cabinet day, with its afternoon receptions, from the social history of the nation.

Mrs. Bonaparte, who is one of the most faithful observers of the once universal custom of welcoming all comers on Wednesday afternoon, returned to Baltimore yesterday, but will be in Washington again on Tuesday, and will receive at the Portland on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Tucker, of New York, who was the guest of Mrs. Bonaparte during the past week, having come on to attend the dinner to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt on Tuesday evening, returned to her home yesterday.

The weekly dinner in honor of the Chief Executive and wife will be given on Tuesday evening, with the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Metcalf as the hosts.

The small and smart midwinter ball at Rauscher's on Monday, and the annual ball in aid of the Children's Hospital, on Wednesday, were the important dances of the week, the first being a departure in society, inasmuch as it was a subscription dance by nine young matrons under the direction of Mrs. William C. Eustis.

A corresponding dance by the Benedicts will be given at the New Willard on Friday evening, when the husbands of the hostesses of the past week will entertain. The committee directing the coming ball, which, like that of Monday, will have a cotillion, consists of Mr. George Howard, Mr. Chandler Hale, Mr. Lutz Anderson, Mr. Guy Norman, Mr. Henry May, Mr. Alexander Legare, Mr. Hugh Legare, Mr. Edward de V. Morrell, Mr. Nathaniel Simpkins, and Mr. W. C. Eustis.

Mrs. and Mrs. Thomas T. Gaff will give a cotillion on Tuesday evening, and Mrs. Richard Townsend a large reception Wednesday.

Mrs. Maurice Frances Egan and the Misses Egan entertained at a delightful reception yesterday afternoon, at their home on Nineteenth street, when they were greeted by a particularly large company, including many of Dr. Egan's associates in university and literary circles.

To many of the visitors this was the formal meeting of the young daughter of the house, Miss Carmel Egan, who, however, refused to be launched on the usual wave of flowers and tea. Miss Carmel, like her sister, Miss Patricia, is a pretty and accomplished blond, with a happy faculty for making friends among young and old, which will assure her a most cordial welcome in society. In the tea-room Mrs. Hilmyer and Mrs. Charles P. Neill poured tea and chocolate at a table fragrant with pink roses, assisted by Miss Noy, Miss Ruef, of Philadelphia; Miss Conroy, and Miss Crawford.

The dinner hosts, in addition to the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Metcalf, will include the Austrian Ambassador and Baroness Hengemüller, Senator and Mrs. Depew, Senator and Mrs. Hale, Senator and Mrs. Elkins, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Holmes, Messrs. Haines, the Senator and Miss Cannon, Gen. and Mrs. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Shonts, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Barker, Judge and Mrs. Anderson, Representative and Mrs. Huff, Mr. and Mrs. Thropp, and Mr. and Mrs. Belmont.

Mrs. Clover will bring the week to a close with her annual fancy dress ball for children Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Lyman Tiffany was the hostess at a small tea yesterday, at her home on Connecticut avenue, which brought together a fashionable company. The hostess welcomed her guests in a gown of black crepe de chine, with accessories of white lace. Assisting in the hospitalities of the afternoon were Mrs. J. H. Purdy, cousin of the hostess; Miss Woodhull, who did the honors of the tea table; Miss Kidder, and Miss Lincoln.

One of the largest of the afternoon teas was given by Mrs. Madden and Miss Madden, wife and daughter of Representative Martin B. Madden, of Illinois, who entertained at the Highlands. They welcomed their friends in the ballroom of the hotel, which was profusely decorated in palms and cut flowers, with the refreshment table fragrant with pink roses and lighted by pink-cupped candles.

Mrs. Madden received in a gown of light blue silk, and Miss Madden in white chiffon cloth trimmed in Chantilly lace. The latter has with her for a short visit two classmates from Vassar, Miss Katharine Morris, of Philadelphia, and Miss Bertha Oldfield, of New York. Other assistants were Mrs. Sutherland, wife of the Senator from Utah; Mrs. Howard M. Snapp, Mrs. William J. Barnett, and Mrs. Edgar Russell.

Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart, widow of former Vice President Hobart, was the guest of honor at a beautifully appointed luncheon yesterday, given by Mrs. Audenried, at her home, on Vermont avenue. In the evening the same hostess entertained at dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart, Jr.

Mrs. Henry T. Rainey, wife of the Representative from Illinois, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Ramsay, gave a tea in honor of Dr. Edward Howard Griggs at Fairmont Seminary on Friday afternoon. Receiving in honor of Dr. Griggs were Mrs. Shaw, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury; Mrs. William T. Harris, Mrs. Thomas Sidwell, Mrs. Robert Hill, Mrs. Charles Needham, Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe, Mrs. Boutell, and Miss Wescott. Miss Doyle, who is a guest of Mrs. Rainey, and Miss Elizabeth Brown presided at the tea table.

A marriage celebrated last Wednesday in London, but of particular interest in Washington, is that of Miss Alice Marquard, daughter of the late Frederick Marquard, of New York, and grand-daughter of Mrs. Ogden, of this city, to Mr. Alan Fullerton, son of Vice Admiral Sir John Fullerton, of the royal navy. The ceremony took place at St. Margaret's church, Westminster, in the presence of a fashionable company, including a number of the bride's relatives from New York. The announcement of the engagement of Miss Marquard was made last spring when the bride was visiting her grandmother in this city.

Mrs. Potter Palmer sailed yesterday for Europe with the son and daughter of her niece, the Princess Cantacuzene, the children having been on a prolonged visit to their grandparents, Gen. and Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, at Governors Island. Mrs. Palmer will join the Princess and Princess Cantacuzene in Paris.

Mrs. Richard Butler entertained at dinner last evening, and her guests included Mr. Justice and Mrs. McKenna, Mr. and Mrs. James Fincher, Dr. and Mrs. Roland Cotton-Smith, Mrs. Burrows, Mrs. Postlethwaite, Senator Du Pont, Gen. J. M. Wilson, and Admiral O'Neill.

Miss Grace E. Allen entertained a small tea yesterday, complimentary to Miss Mercedes Godoy, daughter of the charge d'affaires of Mexico, whose return to Washington after a year's absence is a matter of great pleasure to the many young people with whom this attractive young Mexican made her debut just before leaving for Cuba. Miss Calvo and Miss Calderon assisted.

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, who came to Washington to attend the dinner at the White House, on Saturday evening, was the guest of honor at a dinner on Friday evening at the home of Mr. Justice Harlan. The company to meet the visiting jurist included Attorney General, Hon. Charles J. Bonaparte; the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Hon. McMillen W. Fuller; Mr. Justice Brewer, Mr. Justice White, Mr. Justice Peckham, Mr. Justice McKenna, Mr. Justice Holmes, Mr. Justice Day, and Mr. Justice Moody.

Justice and Mrs. Fitzpatrick will leave for their home to-day.

Mrs. W. S. Shallenberger was the hostess Friday afternoon at a charming tea, complimentary to her guests, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Sperry, of Bath, Me., her son-in-law and daughter, who were married in the early fall.

The drawing-rooms and tea table were profusely decorated with pink roses and palms, pink also having been the color scheme used in the decorations at the time of the wedding.

Mrs. Shallenberger received her many guests in a gown of black lace, built on white silk, while Mrs. Sperry wore her very handsome wedding gown of white satin, embellished with Brussels lace. They were assisted by Miss Mary Shallenberger, who was her sister's maid of honor, and the four bridesmaids, Miss Catherine McIlhenny, Miss M. Elsie Turner, Miss Helen M. Beale, and Miss Lola May Evans. Mrs. William Shallenberger, Jr., Mrs. Barbour, and Miss Wellman also assisted the hostess.

Mrs. and Mrs. Sperry will visit the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sperry, at their home, on Q street, before leaving Washington.

Among the recent Washington arrivals in Paris are Mr. Frank Libbey and Miss Ethel Libbey.

Miss Alice Comstock, of Providence, R. I., daughter of Mr. Richard W. Comstock, is the guest of Miss Alice Dunbar, of this city.

The plans for the residence to be erected by Mr. Perry Belmont, on New Hampshire avenue, have been received, and it is understood they are highly satisfactory. These plans were submitted to the dinner guests of the Belmonts one night last week, and all were loud in praises of the French architect's impressive and unique design.

Lieut. Roger C. Weightman, of the Revenue Cutter Service, who has been spending a short leave in town with his family, left Thursday to rejoin his ship at San Francisco. Lieut. Weightman belongs to the fourth generation of that name who have been identified with the District of Columbia. His great-grandfather, Gen. Roger Chew Weightman, was mayor of Washington ninety years ago, and chairman of the finance committee which built St. John's Church, on Lafayette square, in 1818.
